

Psychology summer tasks

Task 1

Welcome to A level psychology. In order for you to prepare for your start in September we would like you to complete an online course with the Open University. This online course is free and will give you a qualification and certificate on completion. The course is called Psychological research, obedience and ethics which is very closely related to one of the first topics we study in September.

Please see below for the link/web address to complete your course (The course is 5 hours worth of study)
